Looking Ahead

February 10 Bring your clean garden tools in to get them sharpened for Spring! Butch Neumeier and Gordon Beck will be there to do the sharpening.

March 10 - Rose Bingo - Yes, you can play Bingo and win roses! We will have try to have bare root roses and some potted ones, too. Purchase your bingo card for a token amount and win. This is intended to be a fun day, but we will be there to answer your rose questions, too. Come and bring your friends.

We hope that you all had a blessed Christmas holiday with family and friends. Our thanks go to Dianne Nail and her gracious husband for hosting our December party at their home. Dianne provided the ham and delicious sides dishes were provided by all. We all enjoyed the food, fellowship and playing the fun games. Happy 2019!

What To Do in January

- * Water is still the most important need for your garden. All shrubs and plantings are in need of water. We have just finished a dry fall and the forecast does not look any different for the next month. We are having some days in the upper 50's when it is not too cold to drag the hose around and give everything a good soaking. Be sure to disconnect the hose when you finish watering so the hydrant will not freeze when we return to freezing temperatures.
- * Watch for wind damaged canes. We have had some pretty high winds which can make the roses twist and shout. If the canes are over 4 feet tall you can trim them down to about that height. If the rose is located where it receives a lot of wind you should stake the bush to secure stakes or a fence. You should remove broken and damaged canes. Take time to walk through your garden and check all of your plantings for possible problems.
- * Build up your mulch if it has composted, spread out or otherwise not doing the job it is intended to. It will help hold in the moisture so you may not have to water as often.
- * Plan and make changes for your garden. Do you need to expand or alter your watering system? Are there areas of standing water? Do you need to move or remove some roses to improve air flow and appearance of your garden. Do you want to introduce companion plants? Plan now for their location and order plants that may not be commonly available.
- * Have you paid your dues to the Tulsa Rose Society, South Central District, American Rose Society and/or the Tulsa Garden Center? All of these organizations are sources of information from their newsletters or magazine. Having current information will help us keep up on changes in the horticulture world of which we are part.

Committee Reports:

Secretary's Report - The minutes for the November board meeting and general meeting were approved as published.

Treasurer's Report - Dianne Nail gave the treasurer's report and TRS has current assets of $10,564.99. There were 23 paid members and 3 members on 12/6/2018, for a total of 26 members.

He also has donations coming from rose distributors. Tool sharpening will be held at the February meeting. Butch Neumeier will be handling the sharpening with help from Dennis Voss and Gordon Beck.

Old Business

New Officers will be installed at the Christmas party. Gordon Beck asked that retiring officers bring the hang tag for their office to the Christmas party to give to the newly installed officers.

Laura Chalus offered to help with updating the website for TRS.

New Business

Heather Michaelson-Hale and Laura Chalus will be the judges for the AGRS rose trials next year. Laura will also be taking the Consulting Rosarian training when it is offered in the spring.

Dianne Nail asked for any bills that are outstanding to be submitted before the end of the year.

Judy Carter brought up the website cost of $150 and asked the Board if the cost warranted the website. Most were supportive of keeping the website, but the Board will revisit the issue in a year.
